

Matthew A. Cunningham

Architectural Designer

Matt brings to Hughes Associates a variety of skills and experiences with an educational background in architecture and computer science. His education has prepared him for architectural design and practice in the digital age. Having worked in both construction and design environments, Matt is a valuable team member in all phases of a project. His vast knowledge of the building code and handicap compliance compliment any project type. He has been involved in a range of projects including residential homes and loft apartments; nursing home renovations; religious facilities; small commercial and retail facilities.

Matt specializes in developing project models – both 3D computer visualizations, and detailed physical models of buildings and sites. His experience in computer and graphic design allow him to develop presentation drawings and brochures for project marketing and fund-raising.

Matt has also studied architecture throughout Europe, including France, Switzerland, Austria, Italy and Germany.
